

MISSION ZERO

Climate Leader Programme

Have a burning idea you think will solve a climate challenge for your business and the community? Ready to do something about it? Introducing Mission Zero's Climate Leader Programme.

What is it?

A practical 10 month programme where you'll join a cohort of like-minded people to develop and launch a climate project that could deliver value to your business and the wider Te Taihū community.

You'll have access to tools, experts and inspiring local business leaders to workshop your project from inception to launch. All within a fun, no-judgement environment.

Why do it?

- Deliver real progress on sustainability work for your business that they can leverage.
- Deliver a project that could add real value for the community.
- Get access to experts, training, resources and project management support.
- Strengthen your leadership and project management skills.
- Make powerful connections with business leaders across the region and grow your network locally.

Some of the inspiring business leaders you'll hear from

Richard Butler
Founder of Blueberry IT &
Business Coach

Suzi McAlpine
Author & Leadership
Coach

Livia Esterhazy
CEO, WWF-NZ

Jan Hania Environmental Director, Next Foundation

Kerensa Johnston
CEO, Wakatū Inc.

Katrina Kidson
Business Coach

Florence Van Dyke
Co-founder, Chia
Sisters

How it will work

2 hour sessions, once a month
for 10 months from March 2022 -
December 2022.

Held at the Mahitahi Colab workspace in Nelson.

The format

Business leader presentation > project management coaching > participant workshop > drinks.

Access to expert help outside of workshops.

Who are we looking for?

- People from all industries and at all levels. You might have decades of leadership or sustainability experience or none at all.
- People based in Te Taihū (Nelson, Tasman, Marlborough) working in a local business.
- People with a deep commitment to the project and can dedicate at least 3 hours per month to the workshops.
- People with projects that could benefit not only your business but the wider business community.
- People with projects that could reduce emissions for businesses in an effective and viable way.

Apply now

Express your interest by email to businessesforclimateaction@gmail.com by 28 Feb 2022.

Please include the following:

- Name
- Title
- Company/organisation
- Contact details
- Description of your project idea, the problem it is trying to solve and how it could contribute to emission reductions for your business and across the wider Te Taihū business community.
- If you already have ideas for project collaborators, team members and/or funding, please highlight those too.